Overview

Quadax is a healthcare information technology leader providing comprehensive, AI-powered revenue cycle management (RCM) software and services. The company, founded in 1973, offers a suite of over 40 software solutions designed to optimize every stage of the revenue cycle, from patient access to final payment.

The core of the offering is the intelligent platform, which leverages AI (iQ: Intelligence by Quadax) for predictive analytics, smart automation, and denial avoidance. Key solutions include:

Patient Access: Real-time insurance eligibility verification (ICV All-Payer) and Prior Authorization software to prevent pre-claim denials.

Claims Management (Xpeditor): An intelligent clearinghouse platform that automates workflow, routes claims efficiently, and uses the XpressBiller rules and editing system to scrub claims and achieve a reported 99.7% first-pass acceptance rate with payers.

Reimbursement & Denials Management: Tools for automating remittance, identifying underpayments, and managing the appeals process.

Patient & Client Engagement: Solutions like the Patient Portal for managing financial responsibilities and processing payments.

Revenue Cycle Analytics: Business intelligence tools that provide real-time data analysis and predictive insights for continuous financial and operational improvement.

Quadax serves a diverse clientele, including Hospitals & Health Systems, Laboratories & Pathology Groups, Physician & Specialty Practices, Durable Medical Equipment (DME) providers, and Telehealth services. The company emphasizes a hands-on customer service model and seamless integration with existing EHRs and billing systems.
